

Come and join us for our first online GARDENERS' QUESTION TIME!

North London Organic Gardeners and Incredible Edible Barnet invite you to submit your questions for a live online event on MONDAY JUNE 8th from 8 - 9pm

Whether you're a blossoming grower with questions about keeping your new plant babies alive or a hardy gardener who loves to listen to all things horticultural, we would like to invite you to our North London online Gardeners' Question Time.

YOUR QUESTION TIME PANEL:

Janet Edwards - Janet has been gardening organically for a very long time and is still an enthusiastic and very knowledgeable gardener. She is one of the original members of North London Organic Gardeners, which is a local group of Garden Organic.

Lis Rolls - Lis has been a gardener all her life, professionally for the last decade. She's a serial allotment holder, is qualified in organic horticulture and trained in Garden Design at Capel Manor. She is currently enjoying growing for pollinators and cut flowers.

Heather Green - Heather has always had an interest in plants, from painting flowers as a greeting card designer to working as a gardener for the last 16 years. Another Capel Manor trained gardener, she loves to grow both edible and ornamental plants.

Stephanie Green - Stephanie has been growing fruit and veg since she was a nipper. She is now the kitchen gardener at Myddelton House Gardens where she grows heritage fruit and veg in a restored Victorian kitchen garden using no dig, organic methods.

Ted Bell - Ted has been growing fruit and vegetables for many years and has just realised that he rented his first allotment in Edmonton forty years ago. He is a keen grower of a wide variety of food plants and loves experimenting with new plants and vegetables.

HOSTED BY: Wendy Alcock from Incredible Edible Barnet
